WILSON IN ENGLAND.

In London when the sun was low, And William Wilson dressed to go To that big banquet, donkerknow, His feelings surged tumultuously.

But England saw another sight: Her fumes free were burning bright, And mills were running day and night, Thanks to Free-trade Democracy.

And brighter yet will burn those fires, While labor here still chafes at wires, And Democratic campaign liars Tell of our great prosperity.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN.

Death of Mr. James J. Mullins—The Funeral Services.

James Joseph Mullins was born in Cork, Ireland, March 17th, 1827, and died in Mayville, Ky., Monday evening, October 23d, 1894, at 9:30, aged 67 years.

Mr. Mullins was a brother of the late Mr. John J. Mullins, and also of the late Mr. Eliza J. Wroten and Mrs. Daniel Hunt. He was never married.

He came to Mayville in 1893, and for many years was connected with the well known drygoods house of Mullins & Hunt, continuing in business until bodily afflictions compelled his retirement several years ago.

At 2 o'clock Monday morning he was stricken with paralysis, and he lingered until last night when death came.

The funeral will occur from St. Patrick's Church at 9:30 Wednesday morning, the interment being at Washington.

It's all over now. Yesterday was the last day for putting the names of candidates on the election tickets.

Mrs. Mary C. Wall of Nine Mile, near New Richmond, took a strychnine pill by mistake and died in three hours.

The Independent ticket in Fayette county will be D. C. Logan for County Judge, Joe Downing for Jailor and William D. Bryant for Coroner.

The Millcreek Valley Lumber Company assigned at Cincinnati yesterday, as a result of the good times brought about by free lumber from Canada. Assets $35,076 57; liabilities $20,071 78.

Don't forget that there are three more days on which you can register if you were sick or out of the city on Registration Day—October 29th, 30th and 31st. Go either day to the County Clerk's Office and he will put your name on the list.

The Young Ladies' Prayer-meeting is held every Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. All young ladies interested in the salvation of their souls and the souls of others are earnestly invited to attend these meetings.

Gracious! How they are scared! Our friends the enemy are on the run! Not satisfied with flooding the county with every jackleg speaker that could be gotten hold of, and with having Senator Blackburn and P. W. Hardin at the Court-house, they now announce Hon. William Preston Kimball for a speech at the Court-house Thursday evening.

The large tobacco barn of John Scott, near Owingsville, was burned by an incendiary. Some time since Mr. Scott was the victim of some fiend who destroyed the machinery belonging to his sawmill. A few months since his tobacco barn was burned. He rebuilt, and had just housed this year's crop when it was burned again. Neither barn nor tobacco was insured.

Miss Rosa Pickett, the accomplished daughter of Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, entertained five couples of her select friends at dinner Saturday evening. Those present were: Miss Higginbotham and Mr. Percy Lee Mannen, Miss Owens and Mr. Horace January Cochran, Miss Hocker and Mr. Henry Wadsworth, Miss Shelby, the guest of honor, and Mr. J. Banks Durrett, Miss Pickett and Mr. James Barbour.

A committee of parishioners at Paterson, N. J., forced their way into a house where Mr. Stoll was being entertained and denounced him for approving the removal of their assistant Pastor. Members of the parish have adopted resolutions indorsing the conduct of the committee and declaring that the matter would be appealed to Archbishop Corrigan, ignoring Mr. Stoll. It's somewhat of a surprise that this indignity to the distinguished representative of His Holiness hasn't been charged on the A. P. A. But, then, if our Catholic brethren could only be made believe it, the A. P. A. has more respect for the Catholic religion than some of its own adherents, and an A. P. A. would as quickly resent an indignity to Mr. Stoll as would the most devoted Catholic. Once more we say, the A. P. A. is not opposed to the Catholic religion.

ANOTHER SENSATION.

A Middleborough Mayor Purged by a Mayville Maiden.

D. E. McDowell, ex-Mayor of Middleborough, was a prisoner in the Louisville Police Court yesterday, charged with grand larceny.

The prosecuting witness is Miss Lou Bullock, formerly of Mayville, and daughter of Rev. J. W. Bullock.

In the warrant for his arrest Miss Bullock swears that in May last McDowell stole $45 in money from her.

McDowell says he first met Miss Bullock at Middleborough four years ago, that he always treated her as a friend, met her frequently in society; that she at one time gave out the statement that they were to be married, and that his denial of the story was the beginning of his troubles. He had been arrested five times on various charges preferred by her, each time being acquitted. He hasn't a word to say against her, but thinks her slightly unbalanced mentally.

Miss Bullock is a handsome woman of 25, and when asked for a statement of her side of the case she refused to make any, and threatened to take her life if the least mention of the affair was made in the newspapers.

Sending for Prosecuting Attorney Thurman she demanded that he keep the matter secret and asked that the trial take place in chambers. She seemed desirous of settling the matter without publicity, and even wished to withdraw the warrant.

The attorneys for Mr. McDowell refused to agree to any such arrangement, saying that the matter had gone too far for such a settlement.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Dick Carr and Charley Huff vs. A Barbed Wire Fence.

Richard A. Carr and Charles T. Huff started in a buggy for Flemingsburg yesterday forenoon.

Near Graham Lee's place at the top of the first big hill they met a party of movers, who were driving some cows.

Their horse was not on speaking terms with cows, and didn't want to be, so he proceeded to give them the entire right of way.

In doing so he jumped the buggy and occupants down a steep bank and through a barbed wire fence.

Mr. Huff's knee was considerably hurt, his hat was badly damaged, and his best coat is at the tailor's.

Mr. Carr fared worse. His body looks as though it had gone through a sausage-mill, and his clothes await the arrival of the rag merchant.

Fortunately, however, his injuries are not serious, though Doctor Browning had a tedious job patching up the broken places in his skin.

The buggy can be repaired for a few dollars.

Altogether it was a narrow escape.

"FREE RAW MATERIAL."

What a Prominent Virginia Democrat Has To Say.

Major Jed Hotchkiss of Staunton, Va., known to the world as the brilliant Chief of Engineers under Stonewall Jackson, and whose devotion to the industrial development of the South is everywhere recognized, in a recent interview published in The Washington Post, makes some statements worthy of careful consideration.

Major Hotchkiss, in discussing the question of free coal and iron ore, says:

"It is stupendous folly to talk about these things being raw material, especially coal, a ton of which in the ground is worth not exceeding 10 cents, but the minute it is delivered for shipment is worth $2 or $2.35 laid down at Newport News.

"It is the promulgation of such doctrines that is giving the Democrats so much trouble in West Virginia.

"A good many former Democrats are leaving the party in both Virginia and on account of the threat to put coal and iron ore on the free list. I say leaving party, but the party is really leaving them, for back in 1888, when the Mills Bill was being considered, I brought a petition to Washington signed by every member of both Houses of the Virginia Legislature, asking Congress to let the tariff on coal and iron ore remain at 75 cents.

The late Senator Barbour took the petition to the committee and asked that the 75-cent rate be retained.

"Now, because of the reversal of that policy, the Democracy is threatened with serious loss. In the two mineral Districts of Virginia, represented now by Mr. Marshall and Mr. Tucker, there is a strong sentiment for protecting these interests. General Walker, the Republican nominee, may succeed, and nothing could keep him from winning if Mr. Morrison, his Democratic opponent, were not in favor of Protection. A lot of our people are old-time Whigs, who would rather vote the Democratic ticket, all things being equal; but they will not support a Representative who refuses to stand by their interest at the National capital.

"Thus it will be observed that Protection is the business idea in the Virginia and other Southern States. It is gratifying to see the business men of the South studying this great question which is of vital importance to every citizen. It is best to look at the tariff from a business point of view, and that is what people are now doing."

CHARLES PLEASANT.

N. B.—Two low heavy set white men, one having only one eye, were seen with a horse in the Fern Leaf neighborhood the night my mare was stolen and which is supposed to be my mare.

QUEER BUSINESS IDEAS.

VERY IMPRESSIVE LESSON FOR AMERICAN WORKMEN.

Logan Carlisle's Jack-Knife Theories Applied to Our Foreign Trade—Imports Exceed Exports 3 to 1.

A Washington special says that Administration Democrats are contemplating, with a strange philosophy, the movement of trade at the present time.

According to the ideas of some of them it is to the advantage of the United States to go into the importation business and to become small exporters.

The fact that during the month of September our exports fell off thirteen millions, as compared with September of last year, was called up in conversation with Logan Carlisle, his father's Chief Clerk in the Treasury Department, by a Commercial Gazette correspondent.

Mr. Carlisle laughed at the notion that there was anything about that condition of affairs that was to be discouraged. He pulled his pocket-knife out and, placing it on the elegant mahogany desk before him, said:

"I'll trade jackknives with you on that same basis. You give me two jackknives for my one. I'll keep that up as long as you like, and we will see who has the best of the bargain."

Mr. Carlisle's attention was called to fact that the United States and foreign countries were not trading in jackknives, but gold dollars, but that statement had no fear for him. "When the time for settlement comes," he continued, "I will simply sell some of the jackknives and settle."

It ought to be remembered that it is not the United States, but individuals, who are trading. When you convince me that a Yankee is getting the worst of a bargain, as an individual, I will be ready to bet that the United States, as a Nation, is getting the worst of it. No, trade is the result of an advantage to some one, and freedom never yet hurt anybody, much less a Yankee."

NICE PICTURE FOR WORKMEN.

This is the substance of an argument that is being introduced by many Administration Democrats, and if such a fallacy should live for a few years and Free-trade legislation should be secured because of its influence it is quite certain that there will be more party factories and more workmen looking for jobs, looking upon themselves as blessed if they can get wages that will give them a bare existence. The idea that the Nation having imports in excess of its exports is most fortunate is too absurd to be entertained by an intelligent man for a moment. If the trade of the world were in jackknives, according to the illustration of the son of the Secretary of the Treasury, it would be an advantage to get two for one, and the moment there is no surplus to export foreign countries will no longer consent to send out goods of a greater value than those they receive.

The jackknife theory of the Democrats is seen in its true light when it is applied to industrial cases. What merchant is there who considers himself fortunate and prosperous when the bills rendered against him during a month are greater than the bills he renders against his customers? Yet it is the men who believe this fallacy who are at the helm in Washington, and will remain there until the American people show their sense by not indorsing their fallacies at the ballot-box next month. It is the Nation that is selling the most that is most prosperous, as is the case with individuals, and the clearing-house determines in whose favor is the balance of trade.

No one for a moment doubts that the Yankee is getting the best of the bargain—that is, the Yankee who happens to be the importer, and who sells foreign-made goods in American markets, but he receives the advantage at the expense of his fellows, and especially the working-men, whose life-savings are now being paid out to purchase foreign-made goods, while they are standing about waiting for a job and wondering what they will do when their little store of funds, accumulated under the tariff, is gone.

The tariff will not then appreciate Logan Carlisle's jackknife theory.

MOST SERVICEABLE COLOR.

FASHION AND ECONOMY BOTH APPROVE BLACK COLORING.

An Easy Way of Home Dyeing—Cotton, Wool, Silk and Feather—Really Colored a Handsome Black—Use Only Diamond Dyes—Absolutely Fast Black.

It is only within the last few years that it has been possible for an inexperienced person to dye a black that would not crock, fade, or wash out. Even mill-dyed black goods were rarely absolutely fast.

The advent of three diamond dye fast blacks—for wool, for cotton, and for silk and feathers—has changed all this. Now, with a ten cent package of one of these dyes, the first trial gives perfect success. The directions on the packages are so plain and simple that even a child can get better results than the experienced dyer could a few years ago.

The prevailing fashion for black stockings, feathers, gowns, and cloaks, and the fact that anything can be colored with diamond dye, a black that will not crock or fade, explains their almost universal use.

The peculiar way in which the diamond dye fast blacks are made, gives them a great superiority over all other methods of home dyeing.

There are some forty other colors of diamond dyes, each of which is thoroughly reliable, and as superior to imitations as sunshine is to moonlight.

OUT OF COURT.

No New Trial of the Breckinridge-Pollard Salaciousness.

The Breckinridge-Pollard case is now formally out of Court, the notice of appeal filed by Colonel Breckinridge at the close of the trial having been docketed and dismissed on motion of Calderon Carlisle, Miss Pollard's counsel.

The action of the Court was merely one of form, counsel for Breckinridge having failed to follow up their notice of appeal by further proceedings within the time prescribed by law.

This ends the case, with a judgment for $15,000 standing in Miss Pollard's favor against Colonel Breckinridge.

Though the judgment stands on record as a final one, a general opinion is that Miss Pollard will be unable to collect, as Colonel Breckinridge is not known to have any property which can be attached to satisfy it.

WALES PAYS THE TARIFF.

Wages of Tinsmith Workers Will Be Cut Thirty Per Cent.

A special from Indianapolis says J. H. Rogers of Wales, who is President of the big tinsmith mill at Gas City, Ind., will return to Wales in a few days, where he expects to increase the capacity of his tin mills.

Asked what would be the future of the tin industry in this country under the reduced tariff, Mr. Rogers stated that it would continue to be at a greatly reduced cost of manufacture.

The only way to cheapen the cost of production, he said, was to reduce wages, and with a tariff of only one and two cents a tin can, he estimated, would have to be cut not less than thirty per cent.

The only alternative was the return of the industry to Wales.

The question of wages, he said, was now under consideration between the workmen and the manufacturers, and the presumption was that tinsmith workers would accept the cut rather than quit work.

It is either accept the cut or shut down the mills.

Mr. Rogers said that his employees at Gas City received from $35 to $40 a week, which was about three times the Wales scale.

Wales, he said, would make a great effort to get back to the tin industry, which, under the McKinley Bill, was in a fair way to lose.

In another five years America would have been manufacturing all the tinplate used in this country, and the high scale of wages would have been maintained.

UNDER THE NEW TARIFF WALES IS ABLE TO PAY THE DUTY AND THE FREIGHT AND UNDEVELOP THE AMERICAN PRODUCT IN THE VERY HEART OF THE UNITED STATES.

Mr. Rogers stated that if he lived in this country he would certainly be a Republican.

Colonel John K. Faulkner, ex-Collector of Customs of Louisville, now located at Richmond, while attempting to rebound the Southern train from Louisville to Lawrenceburg, lost his footing and fell to the side of the track, sustaining very painful but not serious injuries.

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was burned and killed in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

This year The Bulletin's rosters will be conspicuous only by reason of their absence. Get a lot of buzzards, neighbors; they will be more appropriate.

The census shows that in Kentucky 65 per cent. of the farms are owned by the persons who cultivate them, and of these 95 per cent. own free of incumbrance. The debt on farms is $5,336,854, or 40 per cent. of their value, with interest at 6.08 per cent. Of the homes, 25 per cent. are owned and of these 95 per cent. own free of incumbrance. The debt on homes is $3,034,984, with interest at 6.74 per cent. And yet the Democratic Free-trade demagogues would have people believe that farmers and working-men have been ruined by Protection.

The wage-earner now finds, even at this early day in the life of the new tariff law, that the purchasing power of a dollar is greater by from 25 to 50 per cent. than it was one year ago. The man who earns $10 per week can now supply himself with the same necessities that cost him $10 a year ago for $7 or $8, thus leaving him $3 a week to save or to purchase articles his income would not heretofore permit him to enjoy.—Frankfort Capital.

Why don't you tell the whole story? Why aren't you honest enough to tell your readers that the wages of working-men have been reduced all the way from 10 to 40 per cent., and that the wage-earner who is lucky enough to make $10 a week now was formerly getting from $15 to $18 per week?

The obtuseness of the obtuse Free-trade Editor of the Free-trade Bulletin is so utterly obtuse that an idea couldn't be beaten into his brain with a baseball bat. He admits that an American farmer who carries a dozen eggs to Canada must pay on them the Canadian duty of 5 cents a dozen, but insists that he adds the duty to the price of his eggs, thus compelling the consumer to pay it in the end. Will the Editor of the Bulletin please answer this: Suppose Bro. MARSBIE lived in Charleston Bottom; suppose he had to pass through a tollgate to get to Mayville; suppose he brought to Mayville with a dozen eggs; suppose the Mayville market for eggs was 10 cents a dozen; suppose he had to pay 5 cents toll or duty to pass through the tollgate; now, when he got here and sold his eggs, would he get 15 cents for them, or would he get only the market price—10 cents?—Suppose you try adding the duty to the price, Brother, and see how it works.

America! American Laws! American Goods! American Wages! American Citizens! American Institutions Are Good Enough for THE LEDGER!

The Treasury receipts during the first twenty days of the present month amounted to $12,574,858, and the disbursements $20,587,000, leaving a deficit for the twenty days of $7,700,142. Oh, yes, Mr. MARSBIE; you are making a splendid record. How the country is prospering under Democratic rule, to be sure!

GREAT activity in business is reported that for two years past. It is the prospect of a return to good Republican rule in all the states that has opened the pursestrings of the retail buyers and dealers—a firm conviction that the next Congress will make short work toward the repeal of the obnoxious Gorman Tariff Bill.

J. H. ROGERS, the Welsh President of the Welsh Tinsmiths Mills of Gas City, Ind., says that under the new Democratic Tariff Wales can pay the duty and the freight on her tinplate and sell it in any part of this country cheaper than it can be manufactured here at the present prices paid for labor. As Mr. ROGERS has spent the greater part of his life in connection with the manufacture and importation of tinplate, he probably knows very little about the "foreigner paying the duty." Mr. MARSBIE, the SOLOMON who edits The Bulletin, says the consumer pays the duty; and what MARSBIE doesn't know isn't worth finding out.

The industrial situation at Jeffersonville and New Albany, Ind., is decidedly against Democratic success in the Congressional contest this year. However, the Democrats have a majority of 3,000 in the District. The DePaw Glass works at New Albany employed nearly a thousand men, while the Jeffersonville Carworks gave employment to 2,000 men. Both these concerns have shut down. Seventy-five per cent. of the men who were thrown out of employment were Democrats. Of the three rolling-mills in New Albany one is idle. The woolen-mill is running on a reduced scale. Wages have been cut 20 per cent. And yet Democratic demagogues tell working-men that Free-trade is the panacea for all their ills.

A BOLD CLAIM. A Writ of Habeas Corpus in Behalf of the Stamp Stealers. Attorneys Say That District of Columbia Courts Can Not Punish OFFENSE Against the Government of the United States, the Jurisdiction Being Conferred to United States Circuit Court. The Writ is granted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Judge Cox, of the district supreme court, Monday issued a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Wm. L. Smith, of the bureau of engraving and printing, who was committed for the action of the grand jury in the police court Friday, with Geo. W. Longstreet, on the charge of stealing 55,000 stamps from the government. The petition for the writ alleged that neither police court nor the district supreme court has jurisdiction over offenses against the government of the United States, that jurisdiction being conferred to United States courts. The petition was first presented to Judge McCann, who suggested that some other judge be asked to issue the writ. It was then presented to Judge Cole, who refused to issue it. "Why," remarked Judge Cole, "if your contention be correct, no one could be punished in the district of Columbia for stealing from the government." "Well, your honor," replied Smith's attorney, "we boldly claim that."

"It is too bold a claim," declared Judge Cole. "There is nothing in it, and I will not grant the petition. Besides, it is a matter which can be raised after an indictment." Judge Cox subsequently granted the writ, and the question whether the courts of the District of Columbia have jurisdiction over the acts committed against the government is to be tried on Wednesday.

TO DOWN THE TRUST.
Important Proceedings in the Supreme Court Against the Great Sugar Combine.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The case of the United States against the sugar trust will probably be argued in the supreme court during the present week. The case comes to the supreme court on an appeal from the United States circuit court of appeals for the third circuit, taken by the United States. It is a bill in equity to upset this trust, filed by the United States under the so-called Sherman anti-trust law of July 2, 1890. The appeal presents generally the question of the validity and effect of the law. Aside from the bearing of the case on the sugar interest, the decision of the case is regarded as important because of its bearing upon other cases of a similar character touching the validity of the Sherman law as applied to other trusts. It is expected to prove a test case.

Selected to Hang.
COLUMBIA, R. O., Oct. 23.—Jack Bladen, a white dispensary constable, and four others, attempted, last December, to arrest Henry Palmer, a Negro, suspected of running a "blind" tiger in Spartanburg. Palmer started to run and Bladen shot him dead. On Saturday a jury of two white men convicted Bladen of murder, but recommended him to mercy. Monday, Circuit Judge Fraser sentenced him to be hanged. Since the killing, on the trial, Bladen has been out on bail and performing the duties of a dispensary spy. He was a pet of Gov. Tillman.

The Maine Wins Big Premiums.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The armored cruiser Maine won a premium of $25,000, having developed 1,829 horsepower on her recent trial trip. The specifications called for 5,000 horsepower, and the premium above that figure was $10 per horsepower. The board of engineers declares that 500 or 600 excess horsepower could have been obtained from the machinery if it had been properly handled, and no one expressed that the government will be able to get 5,500 horsepower out of the engines when the vessel is put into commission.

SWAMP FIRES
Destroy Over $45,000 Worth of Lumber and Crops Near Akron, O.

AKRON, O., Oct. 23.—The fire that started in the swampy woods of the city continues to burn fiercely. Seven hundred acres have been burned over, a larger portion of which was valuable timber and farm land. The loss thus far is estimated at $45,000. The ground is dry, and the dark, mucky soil burns to a depth of several feet. For nearly forty hours both men and women have been fighting the flames, night and day. The Akron fire, if prevented, would not be sufficient water to be of aid. If the wind stays in the east, houses and barns will not suffer, but if it should come from the north or west many buildings would burn. A call has been made for 300 men to fight the flames. Feeding trouble in getting their pay, only a few responded.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—This application made by the attorneys for certain railroad corporations doing business in Indiana for a rehearing of the case involving the constitutionality and validity of the tax law passed by the legislature of that state in 1891 was denied in the supreme court of the United States Monday, thus finally establishing the law. Terrible Calamity Befeels a Nyack, N. Y. Minister.

His Four Children Perish in the Flames of His New Residence.

Two Other Children Saved by a Dangerous Leap from an Upper Window.

New York, Oct. 23.—A terrible fire occurred at South Nyack Monday morning, destroying the elegant new residence of Rev. Ross Taylor, son of Rev. William Taylor, bishop of Africa, burning to death four of Mr. Taylor's children and seriously injuring three workmen.

At 4:10 the ominous tones of the fire bell were heard. People jumped out of bed and hastened out on the streets, and when, about ten minutes later, the second alarm was heard, half the people of the town were out. A big blaze leaping flames from the roof of the South Mountain, which was reflected on every building in the lower part of the town.

The scene of the fire was at once located as being the new house of Rev. Taylor, and thither an immense throng repaired. The house was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Taylor first discovered the fire and alarmed her husband, who found they were surrounded by fire. The couple were almost blinded by the Taylor, which was growing more dense every moment, and they saw at once that the most they could attempt would be to get out of the house. They succeeded in escaping from the building. Then they saw that their property must go and with their children, whose escape and safety were cut off. A laborer named Michael Mallory, and two decorators, Edward Smith and William Rath, jumped from a third-story window and were badly hurt.

The names of the children burned to death were Harriet, Ada, Arthur and Scholastic. Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Stewart and William, escaped by jumping from an upper window. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who barely escaped with their lives, were taken to the home of a neighbor. They are prostrated with grief for the terrible misfortune. The bodies of the four children were recovered from the ruins at 7 o'clock Monday morning. The Taylor residence was built of stone and had been occupied by the family but two weeks.

LAW PREVAILS.

Notorious Swindling Schemes in Pittsburgh Stopped.

The Managers of Them Under Arrest and Held for Trial.

"Syndicate," "Discretionary Pools" and Other Cases Methods of Speculation Which Victims Had But Little Chance—Merchants Will Help Prosecute.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 23.—The chamber of commerce met in special session Monday afternoon for the purpose of taking action on the "syndicate," "discretionary pools" and other unsafe methods of speculation which are now being exposed by all the newspapers of this city.

Superintendent of Police O'Mara, who attended the meeting, said he had consulted several attorneys, but all had told him that as long as the "pools" paid their dividends and so complied with the law, the police officials, under the present laws, were unable to do anything. He said the first complaint made against any of the "pools" was Saturday, and as soon as the warrants were sworn out the place was raided and the manager and all his assistants were arrested.

A resolution was adopted declaring that those institutions known as "syndicates," "discretionary" and other "pools" were impudent frauds, and that the chamber denounced them and would offer all assistance in its power to the authorities in their prosecution. The resolution also authorized the chamber to employ counsel to go before the court and seek a restraining injunction could not be issued whereby none but legitimate brokers could carry on a brokerage business in Allegheny county.

If the "pools" can not be reached in this way, then the chamber of commerce will lend its assistance in having laws passed at the next session of the legislature that will cover this species of speculation.

The chamber also discussed the advisability of having the state bank laws so amended that institutions of this kind shall come under the banking laws, so that the bank examiner could show them up in their true light.

Monday was an eventful day in the "discretionary pool" crusade. Two additional informations were made against Manager Wm. E. Delaney, of the Wood street syndicate, and one against G. W. Force, manager of the Consolidated Stock and Grain exchange, and another firm—United States syndicate—Link Louphrey, manager, located at 303 Third street, declared to quit the "pool" business.

G. W. Force did not put in an appearance at his office in the Ferguson block Monday morning, and it is believed he has left the city. His office was also almost deserted by employees Monday, but not by depositors, who thronged the rooms to their capacity. Two young lady girls were present, but could give no information concerning the whereabouts of their employers, or when, if ever, the anxious depositors would receive their money.

At noon J. P. Packier, who is believed to have something to do with the Consolidated exchange, was arrested. He was taken on the information naming G. W. Force and others for conspiracy to defraud. Packier disclaims any connection with the Consolidated. He has not yet been able to secure bail.

Manager W. E. Delaney, having obtained the keys to the Public Stock and Grain Exchange from the police, opened their doors at 9 o'clock Monday morning. Long before this hour, however, the sidewalk was so crowded with people anxious to know whether they were going to get back any of the money they had invested.

When the doors were opened they swarmed into the room, and the atmosphere was soon replete of smoke and profanity. Finally one of the managers mounted a chair and told the audience that the syndicate proposed to pay dollar for dollar, and that proceedings were going to be entered against the police to get control of the books that had been seized. He then began the distribution of the blank check books, and there was a big demand for them.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—At the present rate existing between treasury receipts and expenses, the indications point to a deficit for the month of October of $7,000,000 in ordinary expenses and $5,000,000 in interest, or a total of $12,000,000 for both the month, over and above receipts. This will bring the excess of expenses over receipts for the current fiscal year to about $18,000,000. For the same period of last year the excess was $20,000,000. So far the officials view the treasury situation with pessimism in the quantity and quality.

ALBANY, Mich., Oct. 23.—The examination of Mrs. Ira Hurd and O. W. Six others were bruised.
